

About Us

The Central Arkansas Apprenticeship Plumbing School (CAATC) is sponsored and overseen by the Pulaski County Master Plumbers Association, which was established on March 4, 1967 by renowned Master Plumbers Tom Calder, Harvey Olive, Clint Reynolds, Robert Jones, C.W. Scott and C.K. Marshall. The Association was set up for the purpose of advancing the latest and most improved methods of sanitary plumbing in order to better protect public health and safety, doing so through apprenticeship and education.

CAATC has consistently provided apprentice plumbers with training in plumbing math, plumbing blueprint reading and drawing, and a thorough understanding of Arkansas Plumbing Code and Arkansas Fuel Gas Code by three exemplary instructors with over 67 years of in-the-field experience in all areas of plumbing, including residential, commercial, industrial and institutional.
